COLLEGE COUNSELING COOPERATIVE

STRONGER TOGETHER

The concept behind 4C is simple. Pool a myriad of resources where many schools can share those resources and they will be STRONGER TOGETHER when getting their students recruited for college. 4C has developed a unique college counseling program to supplement the Christian school counselor by providing high school students and parents with all the resources they need for test prep, college visits, exploring colleges, connecting with college admissions counselors, and locating local scholarships - all from a Christian worldview!

Schools are able to sign up for a yearly subscription of $1850. This allows unlimited access to all of the 4C resources for students and parents.

No surprise fees, no additional costs.

In addition, the 4C program qualifies for federal title money which means you can provide these resources at no cost to your school budget. 4C will work with your school to help you capitalize on these funds and provide your students and families with these great resources.

4C curates all materials to assist students and families with exceptional preparation for college admissions while strengthening your Christian mission within your school's college counseling program. All of the resources listed in the column to the right are included and provided to your families for free with the yearly subscription.

COLLEGE CONNECTIONS AND COUNSELING

College Admissions Blogs

4C provides a library of blogs on the most pressing issues facing Christian school counselors and students today - all from leading college admissions expert and Capstone College and Career Advising CEO Jim Bell.

Curriculum Resources for the ACT and SAT

4C provides access to curriculum resources for faculty, students and counselors. They can access curriculum guides, textbooks, student handout materials and online practice materials. All resources have been written using 4C's unique Christian Worldview ACT and SAT Learning Components. Whether you need a complete roadmap for a test prep class or just need extra materials to integrate within the current content area curriculum, 4C curriculum resources can fill the gaps when preparing students for the ACT and/or SAT.

Test Prep Services

Test scores are becoming more and more relevant again with most colleges and organizations requiring certain test scores for scholarship consideration. In addition, many colleges are transitioning away from test optional policies for admissions. 4C test prep courses are administered from the same writers of our unique Christian worldview ACT and SAT test prep curriculum. Who better to learn from than the writers of the curriculum?

School-Branded College Advising Page for Students and Parents

Capstone CEO Jim Bell brings more than 20 years of experience in small schools, including 12 years in leadership as Head of School, Principal, Dean of Academics, Consultant, College Professor and Director of Development. He understands the staffing and budget pressures schools face—especially when expanding services for college-bound students.

Schools want to provide strong college counseling, but adding those responsibilities to an already stretched counselor—or funding a new position—can be challenging. Without the right support, families may feel their students lack access to the same opportunities offered at other schools.

Capstone's College Counseling Cooperative (4C) offers a cost-effective solution. Through a customized, school-branded webpage integrated into your site, families gain access to expert college admissions guidance and resources.

At the same time, 4C supports your school counselor by managing time-intensive parts of the admissions process—such as timelines, strategy, and application guidance—allowing them to focus on advising, student relationships, and overall student well-being.
